

HUL LIME XVI – Building For The Next Generation

Project Title: Lakmé: Building for the Next Generation through Individuality, Sustainability, and Diversity

Team: TriAtal (ABV-IIIITM)

1. Executive Summary

This project proposes a marketing strategy to reposition Lakmé as a platform for self-expression, sustainability, and diversity for Gen Z consumers. The strategy combines consumer research, digital marketing, influencer collaborations, and community engagement to strengthen brand perception and loyalty.

2. Problem Statement

Convince Gen Z consumers that Lakmé is more than a beauty brand—it is a platform for self-expression and social change.

3. Objectives

- Understand Gen Z beauty preferences.
- Identify barriers preventing stronger brand connection.
- Develop an integrated digital marketing campaign.
- Increase engagement through inclusive and sustainable messaging.

4. Research Methodology

Primary Research:

- Direct conversations with 12 consumers.
- Google survey with 102 respondents.

Secondary Research:

- Beauty industry trends.
- Lakmé brand history and positioning.
- Consumer reports on sustainability, inclusivity, and digital engagement.

5. Target Audience

Urban Gen Z females (18–24 years) who are fashion-forward, digitally active, socially conscious, and prefer sustainable and inclusive brands.

6. Consumer Insights

- Beauty is viewed as self-expression rather than conformity.

- Consumers prefer cruelty-free and eco-friendly products.
- Influencers significantly affect purchase decisions.
- Price sensitivity and outdated marketing reduce engagement.

7. Communication Challenge

Deliver a single, compelling message positioning Lakmé as a brand that celebrates individuality while protecting the planet.

8. Proposed Strategy

Campaign Theme: #MyLakmeLook

Instagram:

- Polls, quizzes, Stories, and user-generated content.
- Diverse creators showcasing authentic beauty.

YouTube:

- Tutorials, Shorts, influencer collaborations, storytelling videos.

Influencer Strategy:

- Partner with micro- and macro-influencers who represent diversity, sustainability, and creativity.

9. Customer Journey

Awareness → Research → Consideration → Purchase → Loyalty

Digital touchpoints reinforce Lakmé's positioning at every stage.

10. Expected Outcomes

- Higher brand engagement among Gen Z.
- Increased user-generated content.
- Improved perception of Lakmé as an inclusive and sustainable brand.
- Greater customer loyalty and advocacy.

11. Conclusion

The proposed strategy aligns Lakmé with evolving Gen Z values by integrating individuality, sustainability, and diversity into every customer touchpoint. Through digital-first engagement and authentic storytelling, the brand can strengthen its emotional connection with the next generation.

Appendix

Key data sources used in the presentation include a Google survey (102 respondents), interviews with 12 consumers, and analysis of consumer trends in sustainability, inclusivity, and digital beauty.
